Current digital projects to contribute to 2019e

Vectron's digital cloud services are now consolidated under the brand names myVectron and bonVito. The range extends from loyalty and payment functions to online reservations and online reporting. All services are directly connected to the POS, and ultimately to a proprietary central data centre. Since August 2018 Vectron has been working with DeutschlandCard (DC), one of the large loyalty solutions providers in the German market. The aim of this cooperation, which was contractually fixed in December 2018, is distributing DC via Vectron POS systems. Vectron's sales started the marketing in mid-January 2019 and the first caterers have already signed contracts. Official market entry should take place in H1 2019. Vectron's ongoing cooperation with Coca-Cola is currently in the trial phase for the delivery of raw big data from POS networks for business intelligence and predictive analytics. We expect both cooperation agreements to start positively contributing to Vectron's group revenues and earnings in 2019e.

New promising partnership with Epay on alternative payment solutions

On 11 March, Vectron announced a new partnership with Epay, a subsidiary of payment services provider Euronet Worldwide Inc. with sales of $2.5bn (2018), employees 7,100, and active in 165 countries. Epay is a leading full-service provider of payment and prepaid solutions and processed 1.15bn transactions in 2018. The cooperation will develop and offer new functions / services for POS operators focusing on alternative payment methods and the distribution of services such as mobile phone money recharges and electronic vouchers. In our view, Epay's range of cash-based payment options and the large portfolio of prepaid card products with internationally renowned brands is a valuable addition to Vectron's offers.

Capital increase to support to digital business build-up

On 7 March, Vectron increased its share capital from € 6,611,996 to up to € 7,273,195 by issuing 661,199 new no-par value bearer shares against cash contributions. All new shares were privately placed with investors in Germany and other European countries at € 7.60/share. Tosho Capital GmbH, owned by Vectron major shareholder and CEO Thomas Stümmler, acquired 63% of the new shares. The total proceeds of c.€ 5m will be used to i/ support investments in digital cloud services, ii/ build up a proprietary central data centre, and ii/ increase the group's liquidity cushion.

Phase 2 of POS system fiscalization to fire up demand in H2 2019

Vectron will report its FY2018 results on 30 April. We assume the Q3 slowdown in group revenues carried over into Q4, mainly due to a temporary dip in demand following the first phase of the fiscal conversion of POS solutions, which drove Vectron's above-average business execution in 2016/2017. After fine-tuning our estimates, we now expect 2018e group sales of € 24.9m and EBITDA of € -3.5m, burdened by i/ investments in new digital services and ii/ preparations for phase 2 of the POS system fiscalization. We expect this legally required second phase to lead to significantly boost demand for POS systems from H2 2019e onwards.

We maintain our Buy recommendation

All in all, we expect a rather muted 2018, mainly driven by the normalization of demand for POS systems. For 2019, however, we expect the POS market to gain significant traction, driven by regulations requiring POS systems to be updated and made manipulation-proof by 01 January 2020. Additionally, Vectron's new digital business areas are also poised to make their first significant contributions to group revenue and earnings. We believe Vectron has all it needs to fully participate in the digitalization of the hospitality and bakery industries. We maintain our Buy recommendation with a TP of € 26.6.

Valuation method

Our target prices are established on a 12-month timeframe and we use three valuation methods to determine them. First, the discounting of available cash flows using the discounting parameters set by the Group and indicated on Oddo BHF' website. Second, the sum-of-the-parts method based on the most pertinent financial aggregate depending on the sector of activity. Third, we also use the peer comparison method which facilitates an evaluation of the company relative to similar businesses, either because they operate in identical sectors (and are therefore in competition with one another) or because they benefit from comparable financial dynamics. A mixture of these valuation methods may be used in specific instances to more accurately reflect the specific characteristics of each company covered, thereby fine-tuning its evaluation.

Sensitivity of the result of the analysis/ risk classification:

The opinions expressed in the financial analysis are opinions as per a particular date, i.e. the date indicated in the financial analysis. The recommendation (cf. explanation of the recommendation systematic) can change owing to unforeseeable events which may, for instance, have repercussions on both the company and on the whole industry.
